

Allison is an associate who handles complex disputes involving commercial general liability claims for primary and excess insurers and reinsurers.

Prior to joining BatesCarey LLP, Allison represented major insurers in third-party coverage matters and successfully litigated a variety of coverage issues regarding environmental liability and indemnity obligations. Allison received her Juris Doctor from Notre Dame Law School, where she won the Edward J. Kelly Memorial Prize for her paper on online accessibility litigation. As an undergraduate, Allison and her college debate team won the second place in the National Model United Nations.

Outside of her regular practice, Allison grades bar essays at Themis, a national bar prep company. Allison speaks Korean and Japanese fluently.

Allison was named as a 2024 Illinois Rising Star by Super Lawyers.
