

Mark Deptula is a partner who litigates and advises clients in matters involving complex insurance, reinsurance and various business disputes before courts and tribunals across the country. He has represented and advised insurers in complex first- and third-party coverage disputes including construction defect, aviation, pollution, property damage, product liability, sexual molestation, concussion, asbestos and health hazard matters as well as high-exposure extracontractual and bad faith claims. Mark has also advised life insurers regarding coverage issues including potentially disputed claims based on the insured's misrepresentations in the application for life insurance. Mark has been recognized as a top insurance coverage attorney and named to the "Illinois Rising Stars" list by Super Lawyers.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Successfully obtained a multi-million dollar arbitration award for asbestos related losses on behalf of a major U.S. casualty insurer in a confidential reinsurance arbitration against London based reinsurers under excess of loss and quota share reinsurance treaties.

Represented an international reinsurer in a two week confidential arbitration defending against the cedent's claims to recover over $30 million for sexual abuse claim payments.

Defended a U.S. casualty insurer against multi-million bad faith claims in the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado, including through a week-long jury trial, defending against claims that the insurer allegedly failed to timely settle the underlying fishery construction defect lawsuit against the insured, and where the insurer previously prevailed on coverage defenses that presented an issue of first impression under Colorado law.

Adrenaline Sports Management, Inc. v. Greenlayer, LLC, et al., Case No. 1-18-0802 (Ill. Ct. App.). In a unanimous ruling by the Illinois First District Court of Appeals, the court affirmed the circuit court's dismissal of a fraud and breach of contract lawsuit where there was another action pending between the same parties involving the same contract dispute in Oregon state court, and declining to apply judicial estoppel to prevent Greenlayer from arguing that the two competing actions involved the same cause.

Lead counsel in a successful confidential reinsurance arbitration on behalf of a London insurer, which resulted in the full recovery of amounts claimed due from a European reinsurer for asbestos, property and casualty losses, including an award of pre-hearing security, which was used to promptly satisfy the panel's unanimous award.

Lead counsel in a successful confidential reinsurance arbitration on behalf of a London casualty insurer and recovered under a reinsurance assumption agreement ("cut through") after the client's reinsurer was placed into liquidation and in which the panel unanimously rejected the reinsurer's defenses including that the cut-through was not triggered, late notice, and a commutation agreement between the reinsurer and the liquidator precluded recovery.

Represented a major U.S. casualty reinsurer in a week long confidential arbitration defending against a cedant's claims to recover excess of policy limits damages under excess of loss and umbrella quota share reinsurance treaties.
